

FLAT RATE DATA RECOVERY PLANS

Disk based hard drives contain moving parts which are always the most likely component to fail in a computer system. It is more of a matter of when a drive will fail, rather than if a drive will fail. This is why we cannot stress enough how important it is to back up your data frequently. However, if you are unfortunate enough to find yourself in this position, we are here to help!

With our specialized tools and training we are often able to recover files lost or accidentally deleted from your hard drive, flash drive, memory card or just about any device that stores data.

A minimum deposit of $250 is required for recovery services, and if during Level 1 diagnostics, the technician determines that a higher level of recovery is required, we would contact the client for further authorization prior to proceeding to Level 2 or 3.

While these methods are highly successful at recovering data in the majority of scenarios, some data damage cannot be reversed, so we are not able to offer a guarantee. However, if we are not able to recover any of your data we will refund you $150.00 of your total data recovery fee.
